The Need for NLP

- If your energy gets wasted daily in repetitive and a vicious circle, repetitive and poor communication patterns with your family friends or colleagues, it is not because of you, but because you have not learned the thinking and language patterns yet that create your desired changes and help you to greater joy and satisfaction.

DorisNLP

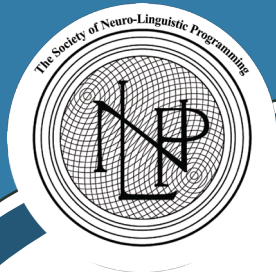

Where People are the Heart of the Matter

- If you are not satisfied with your career, job or daily work or if you cannot perform up to others or your own expectations it is not because of you, but because you just do not have the required skill level yet. Our ability to overcome unresourceful emotions, prevent conflict and remain in a service mode throughout the day is the key for successful entrepreneurship and essential for any company or organization's success.
- If you are not as effective as you could be, it is mostly not because of your level of commitment but because you may not know your true potential, identify your boundaries early enough or do not raise most effectively your competencies.
- If you notice that you need to set and meet expectations more appropriately and realistically, manage time more efficiently, interact more effectively, communicate challenging messages and instructions so the other will follow and interact while maintaining relationships and be able to stay in rapport regardless of circumstances.

If any of this speaks to you NLP is for you!

What is NLP?

N like Neuro

Because we experience the world through our senses

(neuro = our nerves)

L like Linguistic

Because we organize and express our experiences through language

(talking to ourselves and others)

P like Programming

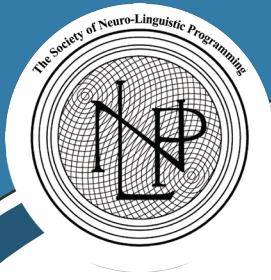

Because we evaluate our experiences through inner programs

(= our values, ideas, conditionings, beliefs).

We often find ourselves in rather detrimental situations, repeat the same mistakes over and over again or respond to people unfavorably. This is because of our inner programs that kind of got stuck. NLP teaches you to program yourself more to your advantage and benefit so you attract situations and people and respond in ways you wish.

Just like you take viruses out of your computer system and download newest program versions to best operate - you can install into yourself new and desired beliefs, strategies and behavior patterns to achieve your specific goals.

The Special Benefits of Society of NLP Training

No psychometrics. No psychological testing or labeling.

No NON-NLP techniques!

Only the pure NLP as originally created in the 1970th in USA.

Togetherhness & Fun

We focus on the power of synergy, relationships and high-levels of cooperation to make meaningful contributions to the lives of others, advancing together. Learning is embedded in an atmosphere of trust, safety, inspiration, playfulness and fun.

Multi-Dimensionality & Accelerated Learning

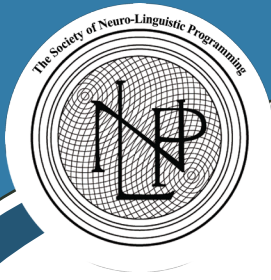

These trainings are probably the most interactive, dynamic and practical you can find in India. This is founded on the fact that our negative patterns are physically coded. Learning and change do not happen successfully through listening and seeing only. Lasting effects happen through doing and so physical (kinesthetic) techniques that accelerate long-term change and memorization.

No extended lectures, no boring moment: We use multiple forms of visual aids, images, soundtracks, movement, gestures and specific body techniques which create lively and entertaining affects.

The Realm of Emotions

Emotions are more than thought forms. Their mystery and power need to be addressed separately including the functions of our brain and physiology. This NLP includes identifying and navigating the mystery, distinct role and power of emotions. You will learn to apply the phenomenon of emotional engagement. We believe learning happens best through humor, joy and laughing.

The Special Benefits of Society of NLP Training

Time

Goals and outcomes are not enough and time line therapy does not help with time management. Not being able to accomplish what you want or any form of procrastination have to do with how specifically we code time. You will learn to apply the Time Matrix model and language in a way that brings into action your greater potential. The Time Matrix not only defines all needed steps but makes you stay connected through carefully designed measures.

The Power of Language

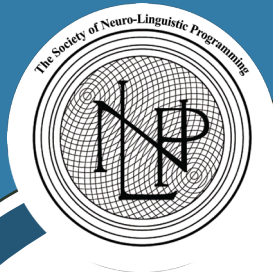

Language shapes every aspect of your life. Language and behavior are closely intertwined. Language can hurt more than physical force; language can expand your horizon. Language is the essence of empowerment, ethically influence and today's professionalism and personal excellence.

Questions are codes to information and persuasion. This training teaches the NLP language and questions models in their entirety and original form. Each model is practiced so the student will be able to apply them in their daily and work environment.

This NLP offers a special focus on the understandings and workings with the hidden impact of language. Dr. Doris is the senior expert of NLP language application in India directly linked to Christina Hall, one owner of the Society of NLP, who has been declared as the "Ultimate Wordsmith" by Richard Bandler.
